Wind Creek Casino's Chef Stafford DeCambra brings

"Cooking from Hawaii – A Taste of Aloha" to the Cooking Studio.

Atmore, AL (March 16, 2010) – Wind Creek Casino and Hotel is proud to present its very own award-winning corporate executive chef and Hawaiian Native, Chef Stafford DeCambra. Chef Stafford will be cooking dishes that are near and dear to his heart during his "Cooking from Hawaii – A Taste of Aloha" demonstration on Sunday, March 21, 2010.

Culinary Olympic medalist and multi award-winning Chef Stafford DeCambra, corporate executive chef at the Poarch Band of Creek Indians' Wind Creek Casino and Hotel, brings to the new Alabama resort a 30-year career distinguished by versatility in the kitchen, a specialty in Hawaiian cuisine, and superior organizational and leadership skills.

An honors graduate of the Culinary Institute of America, Chef Stafford is the winner of two gold, one silver, and two bronze medals from the prestigious Culinary Olympics in Erfurt, Germany which pits the world's top chefs against each other in a variety of categories. Chef Stafford took the top prize in the showpiece category for his chocolate sculpture "Hawaiian Dancers."

Chef Stafford honed his management skills as the former executive chef of the Choctaw's Pearl River Resort Mississippi, where he oversaw 16 restaurants and produced numerous banquets for conventions. Previously, as senior corporate chef at American Classic Voyages, he ran the busy kitchens of such vessels as the S.S. Independence, the Constitution, and the S.S. Liberty. And he served as a consultant and guest chef to Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines. Following his graduation from the CIA, Chef Stafford took his first cooking job at what was then the Playboy Club in McAfee, N.J. A Hawaiian Native, Chef Stafford discovered his passion and talent for food while working in a hotel kitchen while still in high school.
