The Commodores have remained a force in the music industry for over three decades. Like their hit song “Brick House,” the Commodores have created a foundation that just won’t budge.

The Commodores formed their group in 1968 while all the members were in college at Tuskegee Institute located in Tuskegee, Alabama. Who would have known that this small town group would go on to sell over 60 million records for Motown? The Commodores became proven artists and Motown’s largest selling act for two decades, the 70’s and the 80’s, with hits like “Machine Gun”, “Sail On”, “Brick House”, “Easy”, “Three Times A Lady”, “Oh No”, “Slippery When Wet”, “Too Hot Ta Trot”, “Night Shift” and many others that literally moved an entire generation.

Today the Commodores stand not only as talented and successful musicians, but as artists determined to continue their success into the future. With the new discs, new tour, and a new label, the Commodores have maintained their place among the most successful entertainers in the world. Their careers as entrepreneurs, as well as performers bring the boys from Tuskegee full circle.

Culminating the talent and experience of three decades of writing, producing, and performing hit music to a whole new generation of fans, the Commodores are proving once again that their future is as bright as their past.
